Our Building and Plan Service

THIS, our new Book of Home Plans, is presented for the purpose of assisting those desiring to build a home of their own, or to improve their present one. The designs illustrated are of Colonials, Bungalows, Semi-bungalows, Cottages and Two-family homes.

¶ The Plans have been prepared by the foremost architectural talent and combine practicability, distinctiveness of design and economical construction cost. The blueprints for these homes are without charge when materials are furnished by our Company.

¶ It will be our pleasure to have you visit us—you will appreciate the assistance we are enabled to lend because of our years of practical experience. Quotations may be obtained upon any of the designs shown. This information is exceedingly helpful when arranging the financial details for your home. Should you desire, a reliable contractor will be recommended. This is without charge and places you under no obligation.

¶ Frequently one has some certain arrangement, or a special feature they desire incorporated into the general plan—this we will be glad to do for you, and at a nominal cost. Or, possibly you would like your own idea of arrangement carried out completely—this requires but a few days—and is done by the best of practicing architects.

¶ Care has been exercised in the selection of the plans presented that they be of most modern design. This is an exceedingly important feature because of the resale value of one's property. Assurance may be felt when building a home illustrated in our Plan Book, that its design will be in popular demand many, many years hence.

¶ If we may be of service in assisting you with your contemplated building, it will be a pleasure to have you call upon us. Should it be more convenient to you, telephone or write, suggesting the time you would desire us to call. May we have the pleasure of serving you?

6 Rooms, Bath and Sun Parlor

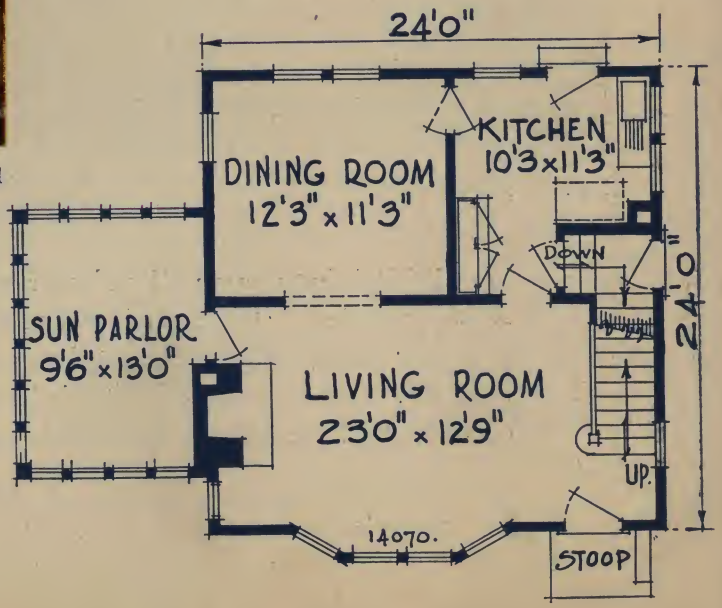

THIS is a production of that refined and characteristic Colonial type of American architecture so much admired. Character and individuality mark the entire structure. Small square window panes, the classical front entrance and the necessary old-fashioned blinds all combine to produce the perfect home. The architects have not overlooked the grand living room with its massive fireplace, nor the large, square dining room. The kitchen is equipped with all of the conveniences required by the up-to-date housekeeper. All rooms are convenient and made cheerful by plenty of windows.

ALTHOUGH originality is expressed in every line of this handsome structure, it is really of simple construction and will cost no more than many extremely plain and unsightly dwellings. Lovers of sunshine and fresh air will be delighted with the great amount of windows, and particularly with the sleeping chambers on the second floor. There are many other deserving features to this home which careful study will reveal. A home like this cannot fail to preserve the bright eyes and the red cheeks of the happy children.

Build with Best Materials
Take no chances on grades or quality of lumber or other building materials you put in your new home. It does not pay to use anything but the best. Remember you build a home to last for generations, and care should be used in selecting suitable materials.

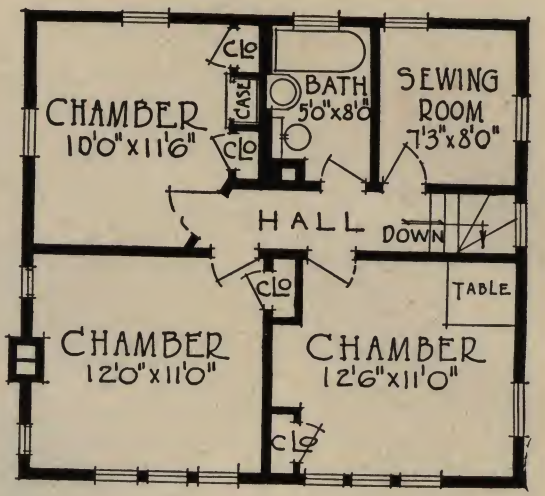

MANY people say "we are building for comfort more than looks." Why not both? The service represented by this book of homes makes it possible. This picture, for instance, represents a home built from the inside out—for comfort more than looks—but it has such a pleasing exterior that the reverse would seem to be true.

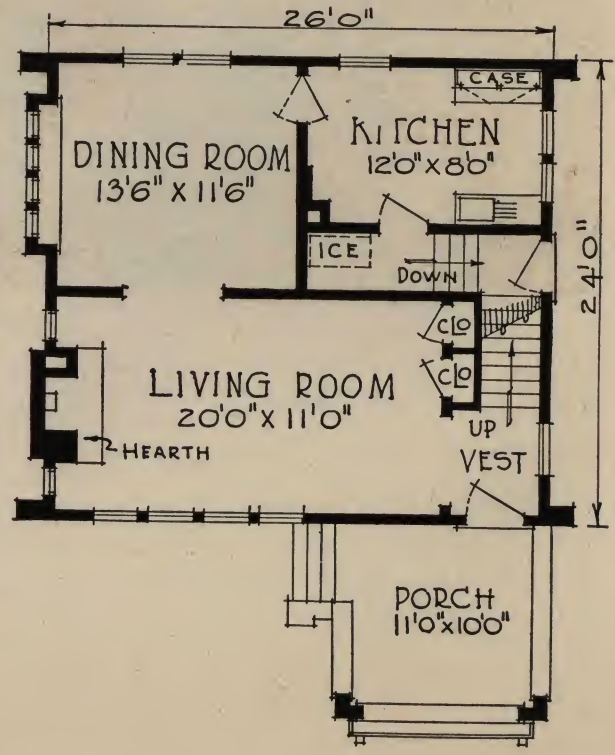

Non-essential features which increase expense are eliminated and standard materials are used throughout in stock sizes.

6 Rooms, Bath and Sun Room

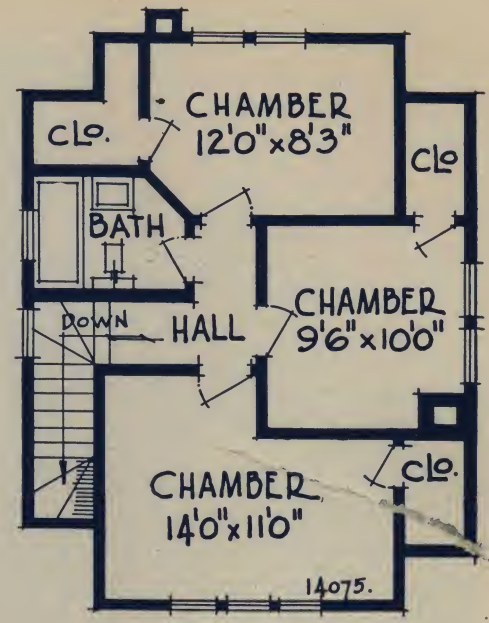

THIS charming, individual, English home is especially well suited for a suburban district or for a city residential section. Such houses as these are not extreme or faddish; their distinctiveness is merely a matter of better architecture than is usually found in small homes.

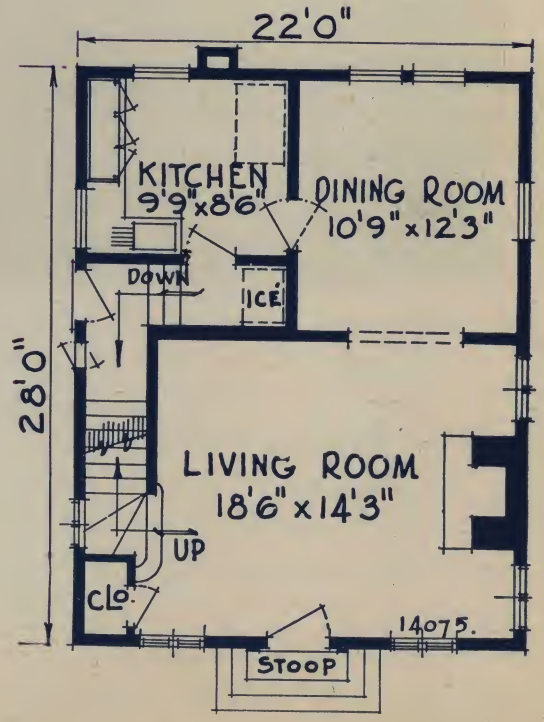

The plans, which are particularly well developed, call for three rooms on each floor besides the bath, entries and plenty of closets. The location of the sun room at the front rather than across the side has many advantages. The air of privacy expressed by the formal entrance is very appropriate for this home. This admirable design merits careful consideration.

HERE is a modern American cottage—a very popular type, pleasing and attractive. The strongest argument to be advanced in favor of this effective home is the fact that any one with a determination and desire to own it, will not be deeply financially involved. The rent receipts will not pay for it, but the rent saved by owning this home will pay for it. The most sacred impulse of the woman's heart calls for the freer life in a private home which she can call her own for her family.

APPROXIMATELY one-quarter of the earnings of all renters are paid to the landlords. This means that monthly millions are invested without returns. Above all, however, is the great amount of real home life which the renters are missing. The satisfaction and joy in owning a convenient home like the above design cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

CONVENIENCE, comfort and beauty are embodied in this model home. The artistic porch is in perfect harmony with the remainder of the house. The roof design, with the low-pitch front dormer is original to a marked degree, and, together with the exposed rafters and heavy verge boards, a real bungalow type of handsome appearance is produced.

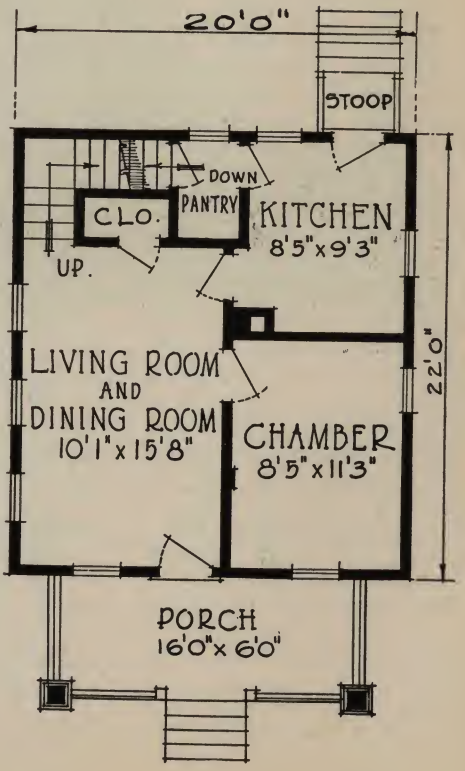

The hospitable living room, big dining room, large kitchen with full equipment of cabinets, etc., are main features of the first floor. Two large chambers and bath are conveniently arranged on the second floor. The design is materially enhanced by the cheerful sun parlor.

A ONE story building offering the space and convenience of two stories. It possesses all the virtues of the model home—strength, attractiveness, originality, comfort, convenience and superior quality. The broad roof projections, shingled gables broken by panels, and the attractive porch conspicuously placed in the center, all harmonize, making a perfect exterior.

You will not fail to appreciate the general arrangements designed for the interior. At the front we enter the vestibule with its handy coat closet, thence into the well lighted living room.

We cater to people who want to erect attractive, modern homes at modest cost—homes in which comfort, convenience, satisfaction predominate — homes designed to eliminate waste labor, materials and time, which means a saving to them in dollars.

BUNGALOWS are adaptable to all climates and are the last word in convenience. No other style of home, perhaps, lends itself so freely to the art and skill of the designer or permits such generous opportunities for novelty and beauty in adornment. These facts are verified by this beautiful bungalow home as illustrated above.
